

A PASSING VISION.

Only the line of buildings tall,
And the pavement's heated glare;
And the burning breath of an August sun,
And the city's stifling glare.
Only these things for the child of toil—
But fancy wanders far
Where cool and dim the forest aisles
And moss-grown pathways are.
Where deep and blue the lake's soft breast
Up bears the lilies white
And frowning cliffs from hidden vales
Exclude the garish light.
Where breezes blow o'er meadow land,
And scent of clover blooms
Steal lightly 'neath the farm-house roof,
And through the wide cool rooms.
Where far across the mist-crowned hills,
The stretch of stubble field
With garnered wealth of golden grain,
Attests the harvest yield.
Where— Nay; 'tis but the city's hum—
The dull and sodden street,
The grind of wheels, the ceaseless roar,
The tramp of passing feet.
The vision fancy brought alas!
Belongs unto the few,
For rich, the sheen of blooming rose,
For poor, the bitter rue.

HOLDING ITS OWN.

Notwithstanding the difficulties which it has been compelled to encounter by reason of the strike now in progress, the Western Union Telegraph company has succeeded in carrying forward its business at most of the important points with little interruption or inconvenience to business men. The manager of the office in this city yesterday received the following, dated at St. Louis: LANE, Sedalia:

Message may be accepted without exacting the stipulation, subject to mailing or other delays. In all cases where it is apparent that business can be transmitted and delivered with reasonable promptitude, or where controversy is raised in respect to transmission, by parties filing telegrams, in the latter case the parties should have oral notice of the possibility of delay. It is expected that the notice referred to will shortly be wholly withdrawn. It is hoped that the notice may be removed from all offices early next week.

L. C. BAKER, Sup't.

Influence of Newspapers.

If the following, written by Daniel Webster, was true in his day, what shall we say of its application to the present time? While we are not insensible to the moulding influence of good books and would advise every young person to begin a library, we cannot but believe that the boy of to-day, if he is to be up to the times and helped for good must read good newspapers. A poor newspaper is worse than a poor book, so do not let the cheapness be the first requisite: "Small is the sum that is required to patronize a newspaper, and well rewarded is the patron, I care not how humble and unpretending the gazette which he takes. It is next to impossible to fill a sheet with printed matter without putting something into it that is worth the subscription price. Every parent whose son is away from home at school should supply him with a newspaper. I well remember what a marked difference there was between those of my schoolmates who had and those who did not have access to newspapers. Other things being equal, the first were decidedly superior to the last in debate, composition and intelligence."

White-Ousley.

Mr. J. C. White and Miss Eva Ousley, both of this city, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon by Justice J. A. Halstead. Notwithstanding the crowd of curiosity seekers who thronged the court room, the young couple stood up bravely and were pronounced man and wife by Judge Halstead in his usual brief but impressive and happy manner. After the ceremony was pronounced the gallant justice advanced, and while tendering his congratulations administered some wholesome words of advice. Had it not been for the presence of the spectators he doubtless would have asserted his right and kissed the blushing bride.

GOBBLED BY GOSSAGE.

Arrest of Two Men and a Woman From Jasper County Yesterday.

They Are Charged With Adultery and Fraud, But Deny It Emphatically.

On Thursday Marshal Shy received the following postal card from P. Coiner, city marshal of Golden City, Jasper county, on the line of the Fort Scott & Gulf road. "Twenty-five dollars' reward for the men and woman who left here on the night of the 25th of July, with a dark mule team, medium size, hitched to an Ellenburg wagon, made at Carthage, leading a nice bay gelden horse, or a young man riding the horse, or in charge of both team and horse."

"The young man is about twenty years old, good looking, and light complexioned; weighs about 150 pounds, name is Mileham."

"The old man is about forty-five years old, dark complexioned, dark eyes, dark mustache, weighs about 150 pounds, tolerable fleshy, has scar over eye."

"The woman is about twenty-two years old, light complexioned, weighs about 135 pounds, blind in left eye, with eye ball enlarged, and is named Elizabeth Mileham."

"Arrest all and telegraph me at Golden City, Mo. The parties are wanted for adultery, fraud, and taking property attached."

The card was exhibited to members of the police force and they were instructed to be on the lookout for the parties wanted, but they failed to show up—at least in the presence of the officers.

Friday night the parties described arrived at Goodwin's wagon yard, where they stopped over night. They gave it out that they were en route to St. Louis from Southwest Missouri, which it has been proved was the case. They remained over in Goodwin's yard until yesterday morning, when, at an early hour, before any of the employees of the stable were up, they hitched their team and drove off, leaving their bill unsettled.

George Goodwin, the transfer man, is one of the earliest risers in the city, and he noticed the team being driven off, but thought nothing of it. A short time thereafter, however, he learned that the parties had gone off without paying their bill, and he rendered himself valuable by pointing out the direction in which they had gone.

Officer Jim Gossage was informed of the affair, and when furnished with a description of the occupants of the wagon, felt certain they were the same wanted by the authorities of Golden City. Calling one of Mr. Goodwin's negroes to his assistance, he went in search of the fugitives, and succeeded in overtaking them about four miles northeast of the city, when they were brought back, and both men and the woman lodged in the calaboose. They admitted at once that they were from Golden City, and said that they were going to St. Louis and thence to Illinois.

A short time after the arrest a BAZOO reporter called at the calaboose and sought an interview, when the following information was gleaned:

"The elderly man, who is referred to in the postal card sent out from Golden City as 'the old man,' gave his name as James K. Winant. He stated that he was a married man and had resided in Jasper county for thirteen years, and his family was still there. He had rented a farm in Illinois, he said, and was on his way there when arrested. It was his intention, if he found everything all right, to send for his family at an early day."

When told by the reporter that he was arrested on the charge of adultery and fraud, he said he did not know what that could be. The young man traveling with him was S. E. Mileham and the woman was Mileham's sister Lizzie.

"Where are you taking Miss Mileham?" asked the reporter.

"My brother," said Winant, married Miss Mileham's sister, and they are living in St. Louis. My sister-in-law wrote to me to bring Lizzie with me when I came to St. Louis, and I am only complying with her request. Her brother is with us all the time, and I do not think there is anything wrong."

"What about the charge of fraud and running off with attached property?" asked the reporter.

"There is nothing in it. The mule team, the horse and the wagon are all mine, and I will have no difficulty in proving that I do not owe a dollar on them."

"Can it be," queried the reporter, "that the authorities suspect you of deserting your family?"

"There is no ground for anything of the kind. I bid my wife good bye when I left and told her I would send for her as soon as possible."

The young man and his sister were next interrogated and bore Winant out in all his assertions. They said there was nothing wrong on the part of any one in the party and they were not afraid to meet the Golden City authorities.

All three claim that the sum of fifty cents was paid to a negro at Mr. Goodwin's before they drove away, and after they had proceeded a mile from town another negro rode up to them and said there was thirty-five cents still due, as their bill was eighty-five instead of fifty cents. This additional sum was also paid by Winant, as they all claim.

Immediately after making the arrest Marshal Shy telegraphed the news to the marshal of Golden City, and last night received a reply saying that he would start for Sedalia on the first train, and asking that the prisoners be held until he arrived. In the meantime all three are occupying cells in the calaboose, but the fact that they are under arrest does not seem to worry them in the least.

The Southern Texas military telegraph lines have been purchased from the government by a private telegraph and telephone corporation.

The contemplated line of steamers to run on the Missouri between St. Louis and Omaha, will be put on by Northern capitalists before the opening of the fall trade.

BOONVILLE.

Raising of the Steamer Rob Roy—A Disastrous Fire in the Vine Clad.

A Rumor Which Failed to Pan Out—The Celebrated Carroll Case.

Tossed by a Cow—Normal Institute—Personal Points, etc., etc.

Special Correspondence of the BAZOO.

BOONVILLE, Mo., July 28.

A fire Thursday night destroyed the two-story brick house of John Fray, situated on the John Windsor farm, eight miles from this city. The fire caught from a defective flue and the entire household goods of the tenant were destroyed with the building. The loss falls on Mr. Fray, who is a hard working, honest German, and who was so suddenly left without anything in the world. There was no insurance.

A HOAX.

Your correspondent thought he had a big item to send the BAZOO yesterday about a murder, which was said to have been committed near Buncheon. A negro man coming home from a lodge found another fellow usurping his place in his wife's affections, and after killing his wife proceeded to wreak vengeance on the intruder. The story, however, all turned out to be a hoax. Who originated it, and for what purpose, could not be learned.

ROB ROY RAISED.

The BAZOO yesterday had a brief telegram from Booneville announcing the sinking of the Rob Roy, Capt. Henry McPherson's little boat, plying between this city, Arrow Rock and Rocheport. It was said that it sunk in seven foot of water and was a total loss. This is all found to be a mistake. The boat was raised before daylight yesterday morning, and went on its trip to Rocheport. Capt. McPherson is one of the best steamboat men on the Missouri river, and knows how to run a boat as well as any one.

THE CARROLL CASE.

Not the case of the drowned man, Francis Carroll, whom some one murdered at Kansas City and sent down the river to be buried here, but another Carroll. At our recent circuit court Mrs. Hugh A. Carroll, of California, Montauk county, brought suit against the Missouri Pacific railroad company for $5,000 damages, for killing her husband near Washington, Mo., some months ago. It seems from the evidence, that Carroll was taking a car load of cattle to St. Louis, and had a free pass to and from that city. When near Washington the train carrying his stock and himself collided with another freight train, and in the accident Carroll was killed. His widow brought suit in the circuit court of Montauk county against the railroad company. A change of venue was taken to Saline county, whence the case was brought to Booneville on stipulation. The jury in the case awarded plaintiff damages for the full amount asked. The railroad company took an appeal to the supreme court. H. S. Priest, of St. Louis, represented the railroad, and Dr. A. Williams, of this city, and Lash Wood, of California, appeared for the plaintiff. A large number of railroad cases were tried here, and in all of them the railroad company was made to pay heavy damages.

TOSSED BY A COW.

A sad accident occurred in Booneville late yesterday afternoon, when a little child, Susie, daughter of John Boehm, a shoemaker of this city, was seriously injured if not fatally. J. A. Edwards, a cattle driver commonly known as "Butcher" Edwards, drove a cow through the streets, and the animal infuriated by Edwards' hard driving, dashed at every one it passed in its endeavor to escape. The child mentioned was walking along the street when the cow rushed at her and before the little girl could reach a place of safety the mad animal had thrust its horns into her face, tearing the entire left cheek away and inflicting a ghastly wound, and one which may yet prove serious. The injured girl was picked up, physicians summoned and the wound dressed. To-day she has not improved very much, and her condition is still critical. If there is not already a law by which Edwards can be punished for his criminal carelessness the general sentiment of the community is that there should be. We have seen entirely too much of this reckless driving of mad cattle through our public streets and it is time a stop was put to it.

NORMAL INSTITUTE.

The Cooper county teacher's normal institute has been in session this week at the public school building at Booneville. Fifty-two teachers were in attendance the first day, and nearly a dozen have been since enrolled. D. A. McMillan, of Mexico, Mo., and an ex-principal of our public schools is the conductor of the institute. As a fair school man observed yesterday, "Mr. Mac is a daisy." You couldn't find a better teacher and one more suited for the place than D. A. McMillan if you searched the state over. He is doing good service. There are quite a number of teachers rendering valuable assistance. J. B. Meador, "Jack," as the boys will call him, is there with his genial good nature and hearty grip of the hand. If "Jack" don't make you feel at home no one will. Thos. A. Johnston, of our Kemper family school, modest and unassuming, yet who has more learning than a dozen common men, and knows how to utilize. Mr. Johnston—the word professor might be applied if it wasn't so detestable—has a class in theology, and what he does not know on that subject isn't worth knowing. There is W. F. Johnson, of Pilot Grove, young as he is, his merit is of the highest, and he is winning laurels daily. W. M. Hogue is here, and though not taking a very active part, still does some good work. A. Haynes must not be forgotten. But then he is an old standby who will do to count on in any emergency. Then there is W. S. Douglas who is doing yeoman service as secretary. Emphatically, "the right man in the right place." Carr E. Carhart, of Cape Girardeau, is teaching drawing. He is an aesthetic gentleman who wears eye glasses and a self-satisfied look, but who is a thorough master of his subject. J. E. Blanton, of Kirksville, addressed the institute at the court house Thursday night. Blanton is a boss lecturer and held a large audience interested in his subject through two hours on a hot summer night. Isn't that sufficient praise? Besides these O. F. Arnold is here, and J. M. Stitts and his son, B. F. Anderson and Jonathan Williams. Sam Swearingen and C. B. Johnson came down from Pilot Grove yesterday. But the fairer portion of those attending the institute must not be left unnoticed. The ladies are all here, from the fair-haired, blue-eyed maiden of seventeen, who expects to conquer all her scholars as she does her lovers by one bright, piquant smile or glance from the depths of a blue eye, to that school ma'am of more mature years who knows that some pupils who require an application of rattan or hickory switch and cannot be coaxed into obedience in any other way. The correspondent don't want to become prematurely bald-headed and will not undertake to mention any particular beauty by name. The institute will continue three weeks.

PERSONAL POINTS.

—Miss Cora Plant is visiting friends in Warrensburg.
—Miss Mollie Elyens, of this county, is on a visit to Nevada.
—Policeman Ben Goodman was married Thursday night.
—Mrs. Jeter, of this place, was visiting in Moberly, Mo. this week.
—D. B. Mayfield, of Pleasant Green, has opened a store in Nevada, Mo.
—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McDonald, of Marshall, Mo., was in town this week.
—Thos. H. Rich, living near Booneville, complained removing to Bates county to live.
—T. W. Anderson, of Fort Worth, Texas, formerly station agent at this place, is in our city recently.
—Mrs. W. C. Scott, of this city, died in Fulton this week. Her remains were brought here for interment.
—Charlie Miller, son of W. J. Miller, of this city, and an old Booneville boy, died in Butte, Bates county, recently, from an overdose of morphine.

GAILY GAB.

GAILY, Mo., July 28, 1883.

—W. Ed. Crawford is erecting a substantial business house at Gaily.
—Mr. Silas Treadway and family, of Calhoun, are visiting John Boyde's family here this week.
—The Woodson Spring fork seems to be full of wild bees, no less than a dozen bees trees have been found in the last week.
—Messrs. Young & Carrier have gone into the brick making business near here. They are burning a large kiln this week.
—Rev. Isaac Haley, traveling under the auspices of the Baptist Sunday School Missionary society, made an eloquent appeal to the church here, Sunday last, for the destitute in Western Kansas and Nebraska.
—Grant Crawford leaves, tomorrow, for Sedalia, where he will join his brother, J. D. Crawford and wife and Will Powell, when the whole party will proceed to Denver and the Rocky mountains. They go by rail to Georgetown, thence by stage to Hot Sulphur Springs, where, after spending a few days, they go by private conveyance to Steamboat Springs, Egeria Park and other points of interest.

MCALLISTER SPRINGS.

MCALLISTER SPRINGS, July 28th.

—A. Mitchell, of St. Louis, is stopping at the Hoffman.
—Mrs. O. A. Crandall and her sister, Miss Mary Kidd, arrived here last night.
—Mrs. J. H. Hogue, of Sedalia, is enjoying the sulphur baths and fine scenery.
—W. B. Addington, druggist, of St. Louis, is registered for the balance of the season at the Hoffman.
—Dr. E. L. Hoffman is making his headquarters at the Springs and is doing considerable good to the patients under his care.
—Capt. L. L. Bridges is enjoying himself here and says he is thankful for the good health received through the panacea of Missouri.
—Chas. F. Lee, of Leadville, Col., after sojourning a few days at the Springs, left for home. He says the hot sulphur baths have no equal.
—Mrs. Samuel Squires and her daughter Cora have arrived from Oberlin, Ohio, as have also Miss Alice Bixby, of Sedalia, and Mrs. C. B. Haley and son, Kansas City.
—Joe Hyams and family, of Kansas City, are sipping the black and white sulphur. Their little son "Ted," came here quite sick, but after a few sulphur baths and drinks, is himself again.
—The new bridge across the ravines, 250 feet long, is well patronized by the guests. The new pool, nearly thirty-eight feet square, is finished, and is a decided improvement over the old one.

SIPPING.

—The evenings are usually spent in a very pleasant manner with dancing and excellent music, both vocal and instrumental.
—The hotel proprietor, Mr. Cramer, and his amiable wife do everything possible for the comfort of their guests and those who come here speak of their efforts in the highest terms.
—While it is probable that not so many guests are here as at Sweet Springs, yet for true enjoyment no better place can be found. The waters are very invigorating and the bathing is all that can be desired.
—There were eight new arrivals at the springs this morning and as a number of applications for rooms have been made by parties from Kansas City, St. Louis and Sedalia, the outlook for the rest of the season is a particularly busy one.
—This evening an entertainment will be given entitled an "Elderberry party" and as many preparations are being made for it and a number of guests from the neighborhood have signified their intention of being present, it will prove a great success.
